Commentary and Analysis

Wheat

Platts European Wheat Daily Commentary

- Russian wheat trades sideways at $229/mt
- Ukrainian wheat offers to $227/mt
- French wheat weakens; heat wave forecast

The Russian wheat market moved sideways amid a trade heard at about $229/mt for August loadings, traders said. Most sellers were at $230/mt, while bids were $2/mt lower. "We can sell at $228-$229/mt," one seller based in Russia said.

The coasters and handy markets in Turkey and Egypt also moved sideways amid minimal demand. "I expect the import ban after the harvest around September," one miller based in Turkey said amid a record wheat harvest, with offers at $230/mt day over day. Meanwhile, local Russian traders look at the fuel shortage and its impact on truck freight. One seller expects the freight could rise to 46%-50% versus the current level of Rb 2,400 for 600 kilometers.

CVB and Ukrainian wheat markets fell, with the latter at offers of $227/mt, down from bids of $226/mt. Ukraine, in the marketing year (July to June), shipped 3.59 million metric tons of wheat to Egypt. Followed by Algeria at 1.9 million mt, Indonesia at 1.48 million mt, and Yemen at 1 million mt.

The French wheat market weakened slightly day over day, with both CPT and FOB down by Eur 1.75/mt. Market participants said there is a forecast for a second round of heat waves in Europe in the coming days.

Platts Asia Wheat Daily Commentary

- Australian wheat rises
- Grower engagement remains thin in Western Australia
- South Korean flour millers extend US wheat coverage

Australian Premium White rose $1/mt day over day June 30 at $273/metric ton, while Australian Standard White with no protein guarantee rose $2/mt to $268/mt, tracking higher value indications amid muted grower sales and tighter seasonal capacity in September due to scheduled port shutdowns and maintenance.

Two Perth-based traders said that grower engagement remained thin in Western Australia. "[Grower] sales are slow. Market engagement has fallen off a cliff," said one of the traders.

"Some growers had been panic-buying diesel and fertilizer when the war first broke out, so they paid really high prices for their inputs, and now that international wheat prices are softer, they are not too keen to sell at current levels," said the other trader.

A Philippines feed buyer bought one cargo of Australian feed wheat for late September arrival in a tender closing June 29, according to several Singapore-based and Manila-based trade sources.

Meanwhile, two South Korean flour millers invited offers for US milling wheat in international buy tenders on June 30, said a Singapore-based and a Seoul-based trader.

In the first tender for 50,000 mt of US milling wheat over Oct. 15 to Nov. 15 shipment, the buyer paid $249.28/mt for 20,565 mt of soft white wheat (9.5%-11% protein), $259.63/mt for 1,315 mt of soft white wheat (9% max protein), $277.52/mt for 13,595 mt of hard red winter wheat (11.5% protein) and $292.57/mt for 14,525 mt of northern spring wheat (14% protein, DHV 50).

In the second tender for 50,000 mt of US milling wheat over Nov. 10 to Dec. 10 shipment, the buyer paid $251.42/mt for 16,100 mt of soft white wheat (9.5%-11% protein), $265.28/mt for 400 mt of soft white wheat (9% max protein), $287.25/mt for 11,100 mt of hard red winter wheat (11.5% protein) and $285.78/mt for 22,400 mt of northern spring wheat (14% protein, DHV 50).

Platts Canada Wheat Daily Commentary

- USDA cuts 2026 wheat acreage 6% to 42.7 mil acres, futures shift higher
- Volatile basis, low farmer sales confuse the market

Platts assessed Canada Western Red Spring Wheat 13.5% FOB Vancouver 30-45 days forward at $283.11/metric ton on June 30, $2.20/mt higher than June 29 as futures closed firmer following back-to-back declines.

Lower acreage levels for wheat from the US Department of Agriculture's report supported futures prices with the December (Z) MIAX Hard Red Spring Wheat futures contract firming 6 cents/bushel on the day to 631.50 cents/bu. The report lowered all wheat-planted-area estimates for 2026 by 6% from 2025, to 42.7 million acres, prompting a slightly bullish market reaction.

Canadian wheat basis prices remained largely unchanged day over day ahead of the Canada Day national holiday on July 1. Basis levels were described as volatile by one Canada-based trader, as September offers ranged between 120-140 cents/bu over Z, almost 10 cents/bu higher than the previous levels.

"Seems like basis is volatile at the moment and a bit confusing," the trader said, adding that he had not seen many bids recently, only offers.

October/November offers were heard at Z plus 110-120 cents/bu, lower than September offers due to a planting delay in the new crop, leading to tightness in the nearby.

Farmer sales also remained low due to low futures, with many sales last occurring in April and May.

A Latin America-based buyer noted that while values showed wide bid-ask spreads, the market remained firm on basis, with lower futures and almost non-existent farmer selling. A Latin America-based trader observed similarly, saying, "[The] issue is the lack of engagement from the farmer to the market."

In tender activity, two South Korean milling companies held a US milling wheat tender on June 30, with two cargoes of US Northern Spring wheat 14% protein FOB-Pacific Northwest heard traded: one cargo of 14,525 metric tons at $292.57/mt for Oct. 15-Nov. 15 shipment, and another 22,400 mt cargo at $285.75/mt for Nov. 10-Dec. 10 shipment.

Japan's Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries is expected to hold a wheat tender including CWRS on July 1, coinciding with the Canada Day holiday.

Corn

Platts Asia Corn Daily Commentary

- Asian corn prices drop $4.50/mt amid trader offer to South Korea
- Argentinian full-corn cargoes see delays, FOB US PNW offers also scarce

Asian corn prices declined sharply June 30 ahead of two key US Department of Agriculture reports, with Chicago Board of Trade futures and a trader's offer significantly lower day over day.

Platts assessed feed quality corn CFR Northeast Asia down $4.50/metric ton at $256/mt for cargoes arriving Sept. 28 to Oct. 28.

In South Korea, a trader was reported to have offered November arrival US Pacific Northwest corn at $257/mt CFR, although there was no deal heard.

Separately, South American-origin corn was indicatively offered in the high $260s/mt CFR amid a lack of available offers.

A Japan-based trader explained that Argentina corn was seeing a bottleneck on the supply and logistics side amid, "roughly two weeks of wet weather...which slowed the corn harvest."

Furthermore, the soybean complex slowed the Argentina corn export schedule, with terminals heard to be favoring combination vessels that included both corn and soybean meal, leading to full cargo corn ships experiencing the longest delays, the trader added.

Domestic Indonesian corn prices were valued at Rupiah 6,750-6,800/kg ($380/mt) on a delivered-to-mill basis in Surabaya, while Jakarta corn prices were valued at Rupiah 6,800-6,900/kg, according to an Indonesian feed miller.

"Corn price is quite stable, wheat starts to arrive since June so corn usage is reduced at factories. For the moment there is no more big [corn] crop ahead so the [price] downside might be limited," the miller source said.

South American origin corn was offered at $255/mt CFR Vietnam for August-September shipment partial cargos, unchanged on the day, while October-December shipment partial cargos were offered at $259/mt CFR Vietnam, up $1/mt day over day.

No US Pacific Northwest corn basis offer indications for September shipment were heard, although a Singaporean trader noted that the last seen offer on the previous day, June 29, was at 160 cents/bu over September (U) Chicago Board of Trade futures contract.

A second Singapore-based trader explained that FOB US PNW September corn shipments were "not all allocated, just FOB not showing [as] exporters try to hit Northeast Asia directly... they have some left for September but not going to show FOB or [offer] probably 10 cents/bu higher."

In Thailand, a local broker source received an offer for 12,000 mt of Myanmar corn at $333/mt CFR Thailand. Domestic Thai corn prices were reported at Baht 11-12/kg ($330-$360/mt) on a delivered-to-mill basis.

Platts Latin America Corn Daily Commentary

- Latin America corn prices rise with CBOT
- Argentine FOB premiums fall on wide spreads
- Brazil winter corn harvest reaches 22%

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed Latin America FOB corn prices higher on June 30, as Chicago Board of Trade futures rose.

Argentine FOB Up River premiums for August loading declined slowly throughout the day. The high spread between offers and bids made negotiations difficult, a broker said.

The Brazilian FOB Santos premiums for August loading remained steady amid a lack of buyer interest.

The US dollar to Brazilian real exchange rate stood at Real 5.1800/$1 as of 5:30 pm Brasilia time, down 0.14% day over day.

In Brazil's domestic market, prices were unchanged in the Sorriso, Rio Verde and Maringá regions.

Trades in the spot market were reported in Rio Verde, Goiás state, and in Maringá, Goioerê, and Cruzmaltina, Paraná state.

According to a buyer, trading activity on the spot market in Mato Grosso was slow. Some deals were being made for delivery in October. Harvest progress was hindered by moist corn in parts of the state.

Winter corn harvest in Brazil's Center-South region reached 22.0% as of June 25, up from 18.0% in the year-ago week, according to private consultancy AgRural on June 29.

AgRural reported that although some out-of-season rain has fallen, Mato Grosso remained the leading state in harvest progress. In other states, a combination of rain and colder weather, including isolated reports of frost, slowed the harvest. It also hurt grain quality, particularly in western Paraná.

Platts US Corn Daily Commentary

- US corn prices rise on USDA reports
- Stocks fall below market expectations

US corn Platts outright prices increased on June 30, tracking the Chicago Board of Trade, which reflected positive market sentiment following US Department of Agriculture reports on acreage and stocks.

The CBOT September contracts (U) increased by 6.50 cents on June 30 to $4.1675/bushel.

"It was largely baked in to the market," a trader said.

For the 2025-26 marketing year (September-August), the USDA updated corn stocks to 5.295 billion bushels, slightly below the 5.354 billion bushels expected by S&P Global CERA analysts.

"The lower-than expected stocks figure suggests upside to our feed and residual forecast at 6.2 billion bushels," CERA analysts said.

For MY 2026-27, the USDA updated corn acreage to 95.343 million acres, nearly unchanged from the agency's March figure of 95.338 million. The USDA projection is below CERA's expectation of 96 million acres.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed the outright price on June 30 for July shipments to New Orleans in the incoterm CIF at $200.30/metric ton and for August shipments at $201.10/mt. For September, shipments under the FOB Gulf incoterm are at $206.59/mt.

In the FOB market, competitive offers for July loading were at $223/metric ton, while August loading was at $227/mt, down $1/mt from the previous day. However, no structure for the two months was heard in the market, as buyers were limited and bidding levels were similar for both periods, according to market participants.

The market for the new-crop corn — expected to reach the market by October — was higher than the current-crop market. In the FOB market, offers for November shipment were at $226/mt, while the bid against the same was at $224/mt.

In Ukraine, according to a trader's line-up data, Turkey received about 454,698 mt of corn from June 1-26, while Italy received 245,427 mt.

In Turkey, however, market participants were anticipating a decline in demand. They said Turkey would have imported around 5.5 million mt by July 31, well above the planned quantity, and that carryout would be relatively higher. "There will be small demand here and there, for a couple of coasters. But no heavy demand should be expected from Turkish buyers," a Turkey-based broker said.

Furthermore, in Spain, importers said US corn remained competitive despite Ukrainian offers. "Ukrainian corn is still not competitive for Spain. Now, US corn is the most competitive for Spain," a Spain-based importer said. However, Spain has received around 164,290 mt of Ukrainian corn during the period of June 1-26.

Platts Asia Soybean Daily Commentary

- Quiet demand for Brazilian soybeans
- Buying interests emerged for Argentine soybeans

CFR China soybean month-one August shipment was down $4.13/mt day over day at $493.01/mt June 30, while basis was unchanged at 222 cents/bu over Aug (Q) Chicago Board of Trade futures.

Overnight, CFR China saw subdued trading activity in Brazilian soybeans, according to soybean traders.

However, some buying interest has emerged for Argentine soybeans on a CFR China basis, according to an Asian soybean trader.

"The Argentine soybeans for October shipment are being offered 55-60 cents/bu discount over Brazilian soybeans for the same shipment period," said the trader, adding that with CBOT futures coming off, Brazilian indications are unlikely to ease.

Brazilian soybeans offer indication for the October shipment was heard at 255 cents/bu over November (X) CBOT, basis CFR China.

Another Chinese soybean trader noted that Argentine soybeans have been drawing inquiries, primarily for price comparisons.

"If Argentina prices can get to 190 cents/bu over November (X), basis CFR China, that would be quite competitive and likely there will be buying interests," the Chinese trader said.

- Demand concerns offset Brazil's pricing edge
- Soybean futures rise on post-report buying

Platts assessed the SOYBEX FOB Santos soybean contract for August loading at $452.43/metric ton June 30, down $1.10 from the June 29 assessment.

CBOT soybean futures were higher, bouncing back after recent declines as traders processed the latest US Department of Agriculture's Acreage and Grain Stocks reports, forecasting 85.4 million acres of soybean area and June 1 soybean stocks of 1.06 billion bushels, both above market expectations.

While the larger acreage and inventories were generally seen as bearish, futures found support after the data release, according to market analysts.

The Government of Mato Grosso do Sul has announced a change to the soybean sanitary fallow rules, giving farmers greater flexibility to prepare for the next crop season. According to Semadesc, the State's Secretariat for Environment, Development, Science, Technology and Innovation, the measure responds to a request from the agricultural sector.

Under the new rule, growers may plant soybeans before Sept. 15, provided the crop emerges on or after that date, preserving

Trading activity remained sluggish in the Paranaguá soybean FOB market, with no trades heard on the day.

Despite Brazil maintaining a price advantage over the US right now, weaker margins for Chinese crushers are becoming a concern for demand, sources said.

Meanwhile, favorable US crop conditions are weighing on soybean futures, making Brazilian premiums and the real/dollar exchange rate especially important for domestic price direction.

Platts US Soybeans Daily Commentary

- USDA forecasts 85.3 million acres of soybeans planted in 2026
- Outright prices increase day over day

The US soybeans market saw outright prices climb June 30 with the publication of the US Department of Agriculture's Acreage report showing no surprises for the market, sources said, and in line with S&P Global Energy CERA's forecasts.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed SOYBEX FOB New Orleans for August shipment at $449.83/metric ton, about $1.10/mt up from June 29. Platts assessed basis for FOB Gulf for August shipment fell 2 cents day over day to 100 cents/bushel over the August (Q) soybeans futures contract.

Platts assessed the outright price for CIF New Orleans for July shipment $2.93/mt up from the previous business day at $443.40/mt. Platts assessed basis for CIF NOLA for July shipment remained steady day over day at 90 cents/bu over the July (N) soybeans futures contract.

The Acreage report published June 30 by the USDA forecast 85.363 million acres planted in 2026, in line with market expectations and S&P Global Energy CERA's forecasts.

However, the increase in the futures market seen amid the publication of the report surprised sources, with July (N) contract increasing 8 cents to 1,116.75 cents/bu, and August (Q) contract climbing 5 cents to 1,124.25 cents/bu.

"I'm not really sure why [futures increased] though," a trader in the CIF NOLA market said. "They were pretty much spot on on the guesses, and acreage was higher on soybeans. Maybe people were expecting acreage to be much higher."

The harvested area amounted to 84.401 million acres, according to the report.

About 96% of soybeans planted in the US were blooming as of June 28, the USDA's weekly Crop Progress report published June 29 showed. Louisiana, Arkansas and Indiana reported 100% of soybeans emerged.

Data from that same report showed that 19% of soybeans emerged were blooming, with Louisiana reporting 89% and Arkansas reporting 76%.

Contrary to last week, no unconfirmed rumors of China enquiring about US soybeans have been heard, with sources believing that the Middle East conflict might also be playing a part in US-China soybean trade.

Animal Feed

Platts Latin America Soybean Meal Daily Commentary

- South American soybean meal FOB prices fall
- Argentina strike threat ends, pressures basis
- Brazil June exports rise 46.2% year over year

South American soybean meal FOB prices fell on June 30, as cash premiums weakened in the region.

Price discussions for Argentina's FOB Up River August-loading cargoes fell to $2-$4/short ton under the Chicago Board of Trade futures. Sources attributed the bearish pressure to the wage agreement reached on June 29 by Argentina's oilseed export industry and labor unions, which removed the threat of a strike in the global top exporter of meal and oil.

Regarding Brazil, the FOB Paranaguá paper also saw slightly weaker nearby basis levels after August parcels traded at a $3/st premium to the CBOT benchmarks.

Brazilian soybean meal exports were estimated at 2.44 million metric tons in June, up 46.2% year over year, according to the Brazilian grain exporters' association, Anec, which reported on June 30. However, the forecast for the month was slightly revised down to 2.47 million mt from the 2.47 million mt projected a week earlier.

For the January-June period, Anec estimated Brazilian soybean meal exports at 12.86 million mt in 2026, up from 11.27 million mt shipped in the first half of 2025. The projection was based on the current shipment schedule.

The CBOT August (Q) contract settled at $303.90/st, up 10 cents/st. The US Department of Agriculture released its highly anticipated Acreage report that day, largely meeting traders' expectations.

Platts European Animal Feed Daily Commentary

- Dutch soybean market remains stable June 30
- Spanish corn prices track CBOT, decline early
- Heat wave not affecting Spanish corn output

Northern Europe

The Dutch soybean market remained stable on June 30. A soybean meal trader said that August offers were unavailable due to limited shipments expected in August. A shipment list indicated that Soya exports to ARAG include approximately 30,000 metric tons of Brazilian pellets, about 45,000 mt of Brazilian high-protein meal, and another 45,000 mt of 46.5% high-protein cargoes.

Southern Europe

On June 30, Spanish corn and soybean meal prices also remained unchanged. "The corn market is now tracking the CBOT, which caused prices to decline at the start of the week," a trader said, noting that in Spain, demand and prices for corn, wheat, and barley are well balanced. The trader said the heat wave was not affecting the barley harvest, adding that it's very early to see an impact on corn. Spain had a good water reserve for irrigated corn cultivation, so maize production did not seem to be affected by the heat wave.

activity ahead of the July 4 holiday, while suggesting the recent sharp decline may be beginning to stabilize. Platts assessed CIF New Orleans dried distillers grains with solubles barges for the July shipment period at $181/short ton on June 30, the Chicago DDGS truck market for the July delivery period was assessed at $162/st, and the South California rail market for the July delivery period was assessed at $210/st.

One trader said the market appears to be settling into a holiday slowdown. "It certainly feels like we are just cruising into a holiday," the trader said, adding that "nothing is trading CIF." The trader also said that while the recent weakness may be nearing an end, it is too early to turn optimistic. "I think it's probably a sign of a bottom," the trader said. Another trader said the market has weakened considerably over the past month but appears to be finding support. "The market is weak now," the trader said. "I think recent international sales have helped put a floor under the market."

The trader added that CIF values now appear more stable than during the sharp declines of recent weeks. The source also added that soybean meal FOB prices fell about $30/metric ton during June, adding further pressure to DDGS values.

A broker described conditions as “super quiet,” saying export demand remains poor. “All exports all over are awful right now,” the broker said, adding that lower corn and soybean meal prices continue to weigh on DDGS.

The broker also said that many market participants have already shifted into holiday mode, limiting activity.

“People should be more engaged after the holiday,” the source said.

Platts Asia Palm Oil Daily Commentary

- Malaysia palm oil futures fall MR40/mt
- June 1-25 Malaysia palm oil exports rise 55.91%

The Asian palm oil market was mixed on June 30, with palm oil futures on Bursa Malaysia weakening following declines in US soybean oil and other rival vegetable oils.

Malaysia's palm oil export data showed an increase in May. SGS reported exports increased 55.91% to 1.11 million mt for June 1-25, while AmSpec reported exports increased 11.9% to 1.27 million mt in June.

Crude palm oil prices are expected to remain in the MR4,000-4,300/mt ($984-$1,057/mt) range in 2026, MPOB director-general Ahmad Parveez Ghulam Kadir said at a press conference after an industry conference in Kuala Lumpur June 30.

The benchmark palm oil contract for September delivery on the Bursa Malaysia commodity exchange fell MR40/mt to MR4549/mt on June 30.

The Indian market was quiet on June 30 with no trades heard. The market continues to watch the B50 biodiesel mandate that is set to be implemented on July 1 amid declining crude prices.

“The market is waiting to see how things might change with the Indonesia's B50 biodiesel mandate implementation on July 1,” an Indonesia-based trader said.

Platts assessed CPO CFR WC India price at $1,226/mt June 30 for July loading, down $4/mt from June 29, while August shipment was $10/mt higher than July.

Indonesia sets July CPO reference price at $1,000.90/mt, with export tax for next month unchanged at $148/t and a separate 12.5% export levy on CPO.

Brazilian and Argentine soybean oil FOB markets were mixed June 30 as Chicago Board of Trade soybean oil futures declined sharply following the release of bearish US Department of Agriculture acreage and quarterly stocks data, while FOB basis levels in both countries strengthened significantly.

CBOT August soybean oil futures fell 2.80% day over day to settle at 66.93 cents/lb.

Market participants said soybean oil futures came under pressure after the US Department of Agriculture estimated the 2026 soybean planted area at 85.4 million acres, up 5% from last year and broadly in line with pre-report trade expectations. However, the June 1 quarterly soybean stocks estimate of 2.10 billion bushels was well above the average analyst expectation of 1.046 billion bushels, reinforcing expectations for ample US soybean supplies.

Crop Progress data released June 30 showed 96% of the US soybean crop had emerged as of June 28, slightly ahead of the five-year average. The crop was reported at 65% good-to-excellent, down 1 percentage point from the previous week, while 4% of the crop had begun setting pods. Participants said crop conditions remain generally favorable despite the modest deterioration.

Additional pressure came from expectations for abundant global soybean supplies following another record South American harvest. Market participants said the combination of larger-than-expected US soybean inventories, favorable crop development, and ample global supplies outweighed supportive demand indicators.

USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service reported US soybean export inspections of 419,124 metric tons during the week ended June 25, up 54% from the previous week and nearly 77% higher than the same week last year. Mexico was the largest destination, followed by Japan and China. Despite the weekly improvement, cumulative marketing-year soybean exports remained 18.7% below the same period a year earlier.

In Argentina, Platts assessed the soybean oil FOB Up River price for August loading at $1,158.09/mt on June 30, up $5.95/mt day over day. The basis for August loading in the Up River paper market strengthened 220 points to minus 1,440 points to the August (Q) futures at the Chicago Board of Trade.

In Brazil, Platts assessed the soybean oil FOB Paranaguá price for August loading at $1,169.11/mt, up $5.95/mt. The basis for August loading in the Paranaguá paper market strengthened 220 points to minus 1,390 points to the August (Q) futures at the Chicago Board of Trade.

Platts assessed the soybean oil FOB Paranaguá price for September loading at $1,149.49/mt, down $4.41/mt. The basis for September loading in the Paranaguá paper market strengthened 140 points to minus 1,430 points to the September (U) futures at the Chicago Board of Trade.

Market participants said the sharp recovery in South American basis levels continued to underscore the divergence between futures and physical export markets. Despite the nearly 3% decline in CBOT soybean oil futures, nearby FOB prices in Argentina and Brazil strengthened as improving basis levels more than offset weaker futures.

Participants added that physical soybean oil markets continued to reflect steady export demand and active commercial buying, while futures remained heavily influenced by US crop expectations, speculative positioning, and broader oilseed supply outlooks.

Platts Europe Vegetable Oil Daily Commentary

- SFO flat, RSO down
- EU rapeseed oil exports climb 16% on year
- India's sunoil demand drops 25% in retail markets: trader

European veg oil markets showed mixed sentiment June 30 despite sizable losses in soft oil futures markets on the day. Sunoil market participants continued to note subdued demand in key destinations as the market waits out the old crop.

Platts assessed FOB Black sea sunoil unchanged at $1379/metric ton, extending its firm yet stable sentiment amid limited trading activity.

The EU exported 1.196 million mt of vegetable oils in marketing year 2025-26 (July-June) as of 30 June, European Commission data showed June 30.

Rapeseed oil exports rose 16% year on year to 615,397 mt, while sunflower oil exports fell 25% to 423,091 mt, and palm oil exports decreased 61% to 157,754 mt.

The bloc's sunflower oil imports dropped 20% year on year to 2,012,207 mt in MY 2025-26. The EU's rapeseed oil imports rose 64% year on year to 523,622 mt, while palm oil inflows were at 2,845,565 mt, down 5% on the year, the data showed.

One India-based trader noted there are "little to no trades" amid the old crop, adding that "the market is in tight hands."

"Sun oil is expensive and its demand has dropped 25% in retail," the same trader said, pointing to waning interest in Indian markets. "The impact of this is visible right now as no one is booking cargoes."

Soft oil futures markets saw decreases as Euronext front month rapeseed oil fell Eur8.25/mt to Eur506.25/mt at the 1630 London close. CBOT front month soybean oil futures dipped 3.83 cents/lb to 66.60 cents/lb, S&P Global Energy data showed.

In the FOB-Dutch Mill rapeseed oil market, Platts assessed the front run at Eur1,156/mt, down Eur1 and the second run down Eur3 at Eur1151/mt, tracking declines in related rapeseed futures markets. Conversely, both the third and fourth runs were flat on the day at Eur1138/mt and Eur1137/mt, respectively.

US DATA: Corn silking advances to 9% by June 28, ahead of 5-year average

- Silking up from 5% week earlier
- Southern states lead development; Texas at 73%
- Crop conditions slip to 67% good-to-excellent rating

US corn development accelerated in the week ended June 28, with 9% of the crop in 18 key states reaching the silking stage, up from 5% a week earlier and ahead of the five-year average of 6%, US Department of Agriculture data showed June 29.

Southern states led development, including Texas at 73%, North Carolina at 67%, and Tennessee at 66%, while Missouri and Kansas led in the Midwest and Plains at 28% and 24%, respectively, according to USDA.

US corn crop conditions eased in the week ended June 28, with 67% of the crop rated good to excellent across 18 key states, down from 68% a week earlier, USDA data showed.

US farmers intend to plant 95.3 million acres of corn in 2026, down 3% from 2025, the USDA said in its March 31 Prospective Plantings report.

US farmers are projected to plant corn across 96 million acres in the marketing year 2026-27 (September-August) and produce 16.27 billion bushels, down 4.4% year over year, according to S&P Global Energy CERA.

In its World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates report released June 11, the USDA forecast US corn production at 406.29 million metric tons in MY 2026-27, down 6% year over year.

The US is expected to export 80.01 million mt of corn in MY 2026-27, down 5.3% year over year, the USDA said.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed US corn CIF New Orleans at $194.5/mt June 29, down $3.85/mt day over day.

Malaysian palm oil regulator lowers 2026 price forecast, palm oil futures slip

- Futures slip on rising production expectations
- Weather boosts output, pressures prices

Malaysian palm oil futures slipped June 30 after the Malaysian Palm Oil Board lowered its price forecast for 2026, anticipating a rise in production in the coming months.

Crude palm oil prices are expected to remain in the MR4,000-4,300/mt ($984-$1,057/mt) range in 2026, MPOB director-general Ahmad Parveez Ghulam Kadir said at a press conference after an industry conference in Kuala Lumpur June 30.

The benchmark crude palm oil contract for September delivery on the Bursa Malaysia Derivatives Exchange slid 0.7% to MR4,555/metric ton ($1,117.08/mt) during afternoon trade, recovering marginally from a 1% dip at the start of the session June 30.

Malaysia is the world's second-largest producer and exporter of palm oil, after Indonesia. The two countries account for 85% of the world's palm oil production.

MPOB previously forecast crude palm oil prices at about MR4,400/mt on May 19, citing support from global biofuel policies and demand for vegetable oils, according to local media reports.

Rising production pressures prices

Market participants expect higher production in the coming months, Paramalingam Supramaniam, director at the Selangor-based vegetable oil brokerage firm, Pelindung Bestari, told Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, June 30.

Currently, the weather pattern is very favorable for palm oil production and in Peninsular Malaysia, production is really picking up pace. Meanwhile, the effects of an expected El Niño are not yet being seen on the ground, Supramaniam said. Peninsular Malaysia accounts for more than 50% of the country's total palm oil production.

Palm oil production typically rises between March and October as drier weather conditions improve harvesting productivity and boost oil extraction rates from fresh fruit bunches.

The market traded lower, tracking weakness in the soybean oil market during Asian hours, while the expectation of rising output in the coming weeks is also seen weighing on sentiment, said David Ng, proprietary trader at Kuala Lumpur-based trading firm Iceberg X Sdn Bhd.

The Malaysian Meteorological Department expects El Niño conditions to emerge between June and July and potentially persist into early 2027.

Platts assessed the price of crude palm oil FOB Indonesia at $1,191.25/mt on June 29, down 0.3% day over day.

EU DATA: MY 2025-26 wheat exports rise 9%, imports drop 37% as of June 28

- Morocco, Saudi Arabia top EU wheat importers
- Canada, Ukraine largest wheat exporters to EU
- 2025-26 EU wheat export forecast at 30.3 million mt

The EU's wheat exports during marketing year 2025-26 (July-June) totaled 24.7 million metric tons as of June 28, up 9% year over year, EU Crop Observatory data showed June 30.

Romania was the top exporter at 7.6 million mt during the period, followed by France at 5.85 million mt, while the largest importers were Morocco at 3.25 million mt and Saudi Arabia at 2 million mt.

In MY 2024-25, the EU exported 21.5 million mt of wheat, according to data.

During July 1-June 28, the EU imported 6.2 million mt of wheat, falling 37% year over year, data showed.

Canada and Ukraine were the top wheat suppliers to the EU with 2.5 million mt and 1 million mt, respectively. Italy stood as the largest importer at 3.1 million mt, followed by Spain at 1.4 million mt.

In MY 2024-25, the EU bought 9.72 million mt of wheat.

S&P Global Energy CERA forecast the EU's wheat exports at 30.3 million mt and imports at 6.7 million mt in MY 2025-26.

The European Commission's Directorate-General for Agriculture and Rural Development, in its June 25 update, estimated total wheat output at 144.54 million mt in MY 2025-26, up 21% year over year.

CERA forecast the EU's wheat output at 144.6 million mt in MY 2025-26.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed EU 11.5% protein Romanian wheat at $231.75/mt CVB June 30, down $0.25/mt day over day.

EU DATA: MY 2025-26 corn imports fall 8% YOY, exports slump 26% as of June 28

- Ukraine, US top corn exporters to EU
- Lebanon, UK largest EU corn importers
- MY 2025-26 EU corn imports forecast at 19 mil mt

The EU's corn imports during marketing year 2025-26 (July-June) totaled 18.21 million metric tons as of June 28, down 8% year over year, EU Crop Observatory data showed June 30.

Ukraine was the largest exporter with 8.35 million mt during the period, followed by the US with 5.8 million mt, while the largest importers were Spain with 7.25 million mt and Italy with 3.8 million mt.

In MY 2024-25, the EU imported 19.6 million mt of corn, according to the data.

During July 1-June 28, the EU exported 1.87 million mt of corn, down 26% year over year, the data showed.

Romania and France were the top corn exporters into the EU with 1.1 million mt and 345,453 mt, respectively. Lebanon stood as the largest importer with 409,866 mt, followed by the UK with 382,442 mt.

In MY 2024-25, the bloc supplied 2.35 million mt of corn.

S&P Global Energy CERA forecast the EU's corn imports at 19 million mt and exports at 2 million mt in MY 2025-26.

The European Commission's directorate-general for agriculture and rural development, in its June 25 update, estimated total corn output at 60.45 million mt in MY 2025-26, down 2% year over year.

CERA EU corn production forecast is at 60.1 million mt in MY 2025-26.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed corn FOB CVB basis Constanta at $228/mt on June 30, unchanged day over day.

Anec cuts Brazil's June soybean export forecast for the second straight week

- June soybean exports down to 14.05 million mt
- June meal shipments to jump more than 40% on year
- Lower expectations for corn exports in June

Soybean

Brazilian grain exporters association Anec June 30 cut its June soybean export forecast by 1.20 million metric tons, to 14.05 million mt, from the previous week's estimate. Despite the downward revision, exports are still on track to reach the highest volume ever recorded for the month, the group said.

The latest estimate represents an increase of 1.9% from Anec's June 2025 data, it said.

Brazil's soybean exports through the first six months of 2026 are projected at 72.79 million mt, up 7.0% over the same period in 2025, according to Anec.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed the SOYBEX FOB Santos soybean contract for August loading at $453.53/mt on June 29, down $2.66/mt from the previous assessment.

Soybean meal

According to Anec, Brazilian soybean meal exports are estimated at 2.44 million mt in June, an increase of 46.2% year over year. However, the forecast for the month was revised slightly lower from the 2.47 million mt projected a week earlier.

For the January-June period, Anec estimates Brazilian soybean meal exports at 12.86 million mt in 2026, up from 11.27 million mt shipped during the first half of 2025. The cumulative volume is therefore 14% higher than a year earlier, reflecting continued strength in Brazil's soybean meal export program during the first six months of the year.

On June 29, Platts assessed the Brazilian soybean meal FOB Paranaguá outright price for August at $338.19/mt, down 44 cents/mt on the day.

Corn

Anec forecast Brazil's June corn shipments at 497,640 mt, lower than last week's estimate of 774,020 mt and from 568,668 mt a year earlier.

The association projects January-June corn exports at 6.25 million mt, up from 5.66 million mt in the same period of 2025.

Anec also expects 381,187 mt of corn to be shipped from the port of Itacoatiara, Santarém and Barcarena in the week ended July 4.

Corn exports are continuing at a slow pace, with attention focused on the winter corn harvest. Negotiations for the domestic market are also progressing slowly, with prices decreasing.

Platts assessed FOB Santos corn for August shipment at $209.93/mt June 29, down $4.53/mt day over day.

Anec said June projections remain subject to revision as the shipping schedule evolves.

USDA pegs US corn area at 95.3 million acres, down 3% year over year

- Corn acreage down or flat in 40 of 48 states
- Iowa acreage falls 4.1%, Illinois down 0.9% on year
- Corn stocks rise 14% on year to 5.29 billion bushels

US corn planted acreage was estimated at 95.3 million acres, down 3% from last year and largely unchanged from March planting intentions, according to the US Department of Agriculture's acreage report released June 30.

Despite the year-over-year decline, the area remains the fourth-highest planted acreage in the US since 1944.

Compared with last year, planted acreage was down or unchanged in 40 of the 48 estimating states, the report said.

Area harvested for grain was pegged at 87.4 million acres, down 4% from a year earlier.

Corn acreage across major US producing states is set to decline year over year, with Iowa seen at 13 million acres, down 4.1% year over year, and Illinois at 11.1 million acres, down 0.9% year over year, according to USDA estimates.

Nebraska is projected at 10.5 million acres, down 2.3% year over year, while Minnesota is estimated at 8.6 million acres, 3.9% lower year over year.

As of mid-June, about 1.9 million acres of corn remained to be planted, down from 3.63 million acres a year earlier, according to USDA data.

In its World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates report released June 11, the USDA forecast US corn production at 406.29 million metric tons in marketing year 2026-27 (September-August), down 6% year over year.

The US is expected to export 80.01 million mt of corn in MY 2026-27, down 5.3% year over year, the USDA said.

Corn stocks rise

US corn stocks stood at 5.29 billion bushels as of June 1, up 14% year over year, according to the USDA's quarterly Grain Stocks report released June 30.

The figure came in below the average trade estimate of 5.408 billion bushels.

On-farm corn stocks totaled 2.96 billion bushels, up 16% year over year, while off-farm corn stocks were at 2.34 billion bushels, up 12% year over year, the report showed.

March-May 2026 disappearance rose to 3.74 billion bushels from 3.50 billion bushels a year earlier, indicating stronger demand despite higher inventories.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed US corn CIF New Orleans at $200.30/mt June 30, down $5.80/mt day over day.

Platts Ags EMEA Wheat Daily Rationale

Platts assessed the Milling Wheat Marker at $229/metric ton on June 30, unchanged from the previous assessment. Russian 12.5% handysize wheat, assessed at $229/mt, was the most competitive wheat out of the three components of the Milling Wheat Marker, which also includes Ukraine 11.5% at $232.65/mt when adding May's quality normalization of $6.15/mt, to account for its lower protein content, and CVB 12.5% wheat assessed at $235.75/mt day over day. The structure between the second half of July and the first half of August was assessed flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 28- August 11.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Russian deepsea, 12.5% protein) unchanged at $229/mt on June 30, in line with a trade heard day over day at $228-$229/mt. The structure between the second half of July and the first half of August was assessed flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 28-August 11.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Ukraine deepsea, 11.5% protein) down 50 cents at $226.50/mt on June 30, below an offer at $227/mt, and above bid at $226/mt. The structure between the second half of July and the first half of August was assessed flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 28-August 11.

Platts is part of S&P Global Energy.

Exclusions: No market data was excluded from the June 30 Black Sea wheat assessments.

Platts Asia Wheat Daily Assessment Rationale

Platts assessed Australian Premium White wheat up $1/metric ton at $273/mt FOB Kwinana June 30 for cargoes loading between Aug. 29 and Sept. 28, tracking a narrower price spread of $5/mt between Australian Premium White and Australian Standard White with no protein guarantee, and under a normalized offer at $278/mt, accounting for a freight cost of $19/mt between Western Australia and Southeast Asia.

Platts assessed Australian Standard White wheat with no protein guarantee up $2/mt at $268/mt for cargoes loading over the same period, tracking higher indicative values for September shipment at $268/mt.

This narrows the spread between Australian Premium White and Australian Standard White with no protein guarantee to $5/mt.
