Commentary and Analysis

Wheat

Platts European Wheat Daily Commentary

- Black Sea wheat falls on weak demand
- Russian export tax may rise Rb300-400

The Black Sea wheat market fell amid weak demand. The Russian 12.5% traded several times at about $225/mt on July 31, traders said. The ruble depreciated to April 2026 highs at Rb80/$1. "This means the export tax will be Rb300-400," one Russian seller said on a possible increase in the tax to make up for lower FOB prices.

Some shipowners continued to refuse to call Russian and POC ports amid more attacks over the weekend and on Aug 3. "Vessels are free but don't want to call Russia or Ukraine," a trader said.

"I would be happy to look at POC ports, but there is no freight around," a Ukrainian seller said. Instead, the coasters market was offered at $268/mt for the 11.5% to Egypt, with freight at $60/mt.

The CIF Egypt handy market from Russia was offered at $268/mt, compared with $265/mt bids, but freight remained hard to fix amid uncertainty.

The CVB market was valued by traders at Eur2/mt over Matif Sept for the Algerian 11.5% market and at Eur7/mt over Matif Sept for the 12.5% market. Overall, milling wheat in the CVB market was little active, as traders focused on feed wheat priced at Eur 10/mt and Eur 17/mt, respectively.

Platts Asia Wheat Daily Commentary

- Australian wheat prices fall amid low demand
- September ASW9 offers drop $3-$5/mt
- Buyers await further price corrections

Prices for Australian Premium White and Australian Standard White wheat with no protein guarantee declined on Aug. 3 amid a market with no liquidity and falling offer levels.

Some offers for the September shipment of ASW9 were reported to be lower by $3-$5/mt on both a FOB WA and a CFR Vietnam basis. Similarly, APW offers were also brought lower.

However, an Australian trader noted that "there is no FOB market to speak of and [indications are all] rough [figures]."

"Markets are all retracing," said a Chinese trader.

"Buyers are mostly waiting for some price correction, if someone needs to buy on the spot to cover for their immediate requirements, they will move, otherwise demand is mostly getting pushed back," a Singapore-based trader said.

Platts Canada Wheat Daily Commentary

- Holiday slows market activity
- Futures edge higher

Platts assessed Canada Western Red Spring Wheat 13.5% FOB Vancouver 30-45 days forward at $306.87/metric ton on Aug. 3, up $2.02/mt from the last session, with little market activity and little fresh price discovery despite firmer futures.

The December Minneapolis Hard Red Spring wheat futures contract rose 5.50 cents/bu to settle at 720.00 cents/bu, continuing the recent volatility seen in the futures market.

With many participants away from the market due to the Civic Holiday in Canada, activity in the physical cash market remained limited.

One trader said, "We are seeing similar situations in Canada and the US between September and October values, as September is essentially full," suggesting nearby logistics continue to influence the relationship between September and October positions.

Corn

Platts Asia Corn Daily Commentary

- Asian corn prices fall $2/mt to $272/mt
- CBOT futures decline on weak buying interest

Asian corn prices declined Aug. 3, tracking lower Chicago Board of Trade futures and a lack of buying interest.

Platts assessed feed quality corn CFR Northeast Asia down $2/metric ton at $272/mt for cargoes arriving Nov. 1 to Dec. 1.

US Pacific Northwest corn basis offer indications were unchanged day over day, with October shipment reported at 145 cents/bu over December (Z) CBOT.

However, CBOT corn futures fell day over day, with the September (U) contract down 4.5 cents/bu at 440.75 cents/bu, and December (Z) contract down 5 cents/bu at 464 cents/bu.

In Vietnam, South American origin corn offers were reported unchanged at $267/mt CFR Vietnam for September shipment partial cargos, and down $2/mt day over day at $272/mt CFR for October shipments.

Market participants discussed Argentine port strikes that were said to have resulted in no pilotage services, according to a shipping broker and two Singaporean traders.

S&P Global CERA in its Weekly Corn and Minor Grains report on July 31 noted that China corn yields were supported despite heat risks in Inner Mongolia, as other regions experienced broadly favorable conditions.

Platts Latin America Corn Daily Commentary

- Higher premium in Brazil
- Prices rise in LatAm

Latin America corn prices increased following a rise in the Chicago Board of Trade futures on Aug. 3.

The FOB Up River premiums for September loading remained unchanged.

In Argentina, the pilots issued a lockout starting on Aug. 1, blocking the entry and departure of oceangoing ships to and from ports throughout the country. As a result, there were concerns about exports.

The Brazilian FOB Santos premiums for September loading increased during the day.

The US dollar to Brazilian real exchange rate stood at 5.1001 real/$1 as of 5:30 pm Brasilia time, up 0.28% day over day.

Brokers said farmer sales of corn in Brazil totaled 1.3 million-1.7 million metric tons on the previous week.

In Brazil's domestic market, prices increased in the Sorriso, Rio Verde and Maringa regions.

According to a buyer in Mato Grosso state, buyers were more interested in negotiating to load in October or November.

Winter corn crop harvest in Brazil's Center-South region reached 69.0% as of July 30, up from 60% a week earlier but lower than 81.0% in the year-ago week, according to private consultancy AgRural on Aug. 3.

AgRural reported that harvest is nearing completion in Mato Grosso and has kept a good pace in Goiás and Minas Gerais, helped by dry weather. However, harvesting progress has been slower than expected in Paraná, Mato Grosso do Sul, and São Paulo due to the return of rain.

AgRural estimates Brazil's winter corn production for 2025-26 at 110.5 million mt, down from 113.2 million mt in the previous crop.

Platts US Corn Daily Commentary

- Farmer corn selling improves after 2 months
- Export inspections rise 24.8% week over week

The US corn market experienced improved farmer selling on Aug. 3 after nearly two months of limited movement, although overall trade activity remained subdued despite increased crop offers.

"We did see some good farmer selling of corn despite the weaker trend in the board," a broker said, adding that the movement pointed to a pickup in corn flows after two months of limited farmer engagement.

A second trader also noted some activity during the session but described the day as very quiet.

On Aug. 3, the Chicago Board of Trade September (U) and December (Z) corn futures contracts settled higher by 8.50 cents each, at $4.4925/bushel and $4.7250/bu, respectively.

US yellow corn inspected for export totaled 1.884 million metric tons in the week ended July 30, up 24.8% from the previous week, while cumulative inspections reached 3.043 billion bushels, according to the US Department of Agriculture's weekly Federal Grain Inspection Service report released Aug. 3.

Platts assessed the CIF New Orleans outright price for August shipments at $218.20/mt on Aug. 3, while September shipments were assessed at $222.55/mt. The FOB US Gulf outright price for October shipment was assessed at $232.09/mt.

Platts European Corn Daily Commentary

- Black Sea corn market remains stable
- Ukrainian new crop offers jump to $237/mt

The Black Sea corn market was stable on Aug. 3, as the buying interest for Ukrainian corn remains limited on the FOB basis. In the CIF market, the buying idea for ARAG was seen at the range of $285-290/mt for August/September loading.

Meanwhile, the offers for the new crop jumped over the weekend, though the buying interest remained limited. Ukrainian corn was offered at $237/mt for November shipment on the day, up from $235/mt on Friday.

The recent dry spells in certain parts of the country have partially driven the prices, according to traders. However, the production prospects for the new crop remain fairly high amid drought in certain parts of Ukraine, as Northern Ukraine is the major corn-producing belt.

A trader from Ukraine said, "West regions in Ukraine are hit by drought, insufficient rains indeed, while the center, north and east are ok."

Furthermore, according to the report from S&P Global Energy CERA, Ukraine's grain export outlook has weakened further as logistics have become the binding constraint. While crop prospects remain broadly acceptable, export assumptions for grains now need to be revised lower due to the effective suspension of the Black Sea corridor and growing pressure on alternative routes.

In Serbia, according to the Novi Sad commodity exchange, the corn market was characterized by buyer restraint, which significantly reduced trading volume at the exchange last week. Low interest on the demand side caused the price to fall by 0.58% compared to the previous week.

- US soybeans heard traded for CFR China
- Sinograin to auction imported soybeans Aug 5

CFR China soybean month-one September shipment was down $4.13/mt on day at $527.18/mt Aug. 3, while basis was unchanged at 255 cents/bu over Nov (X) Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) futures.

Overnight, up to 15 cargoes of US soybeans were heard traded into China, while Brazilian soybean trade liquidity remained largely thin, according to China-based soybean traders.

About seven-eight cargoes each for US Gulf and US Pacific Northwest October shipment was heard traded at 305 cents/bu and 300 cents/bu, respectively, over Nov (X) CBOT, basis CFR China.

"Brazil has been relatively quiet. After CBOT soybean prices declined, Brazilian farmers became much less willing to sell," said a China-based soybean trader.

This week's China domestic crush volume remained estimated at above 2 million mt, according to the same trader.

China's state-owned Sinograin will auction 501,000 mt of imported soybeans from state reserves on Aug. 5, according to a notice published by the National Grain Trade Center on July 31.

The auction, scheduled for 1:30 pm Beijing time, will offer soybeans harvested between 2022 and 2025, the notice said.

The soybeans offered in the auction are distributed across Tianjin, Shandong, Henan, Jiangsu, Zhejiang, Chongqing, Sichuan and Hunan, according to the notice.

CBOT soybean futures started the day lower due to favorable Midwest rains but found support throughout the session and reversed upward, pulled by a surge in soybean oil prices and the US Department of Agriculture's confirmation of 488,000 mt in new crop sales to China, analysts said.

Brazil's 2026-27 soybean crop is expected to reach a record 183.1 million mt, exceeding the previous season's estimated crop of 182.6 million mt, according to the first forecast released by consultancy and brokerage firm StoneX. Planting is set to begin in mid-September, while the harvested area is projected to increase 0.76% year over year to 49.5 million hectares. StoneX noted that high production costs and ample global supplies were likely to limit more significant acreage expansion.

The consultancy estimated Brazil's average soybean yield at 3.70 mt/hectare, slightly below the 3.72 mt/ha recorded in 2025-26. Nonetheless, StoneX said the 2026-27 crop has the potential to set a production record, provided weather conditions remain broadly favorable throughout the growing season.

Trading activity was slow to start the week in the Brazilian FOB premiums market, with only one trade heard, for a February 2027 shipment, day over day.

Market participants said Chinese buying interest has been limited, as crush margins for Brazilian old crop soybeans remained in negative territory.

The US dollar versus the Brazilian real settled at Real 5.0861/$1 at 4:30 pm Brasilia time. Domestic soybean prices were higher in the main producing regions.

Platts US Soybeans Daily Commentary

- US soybean prices rise on CBOT gains
- USDA announces 488,000 mt China sale
- Markets await EPA refinery ruling decision

US soybeans Platts outright prices increased on Aug. 3, tracking the Chicago Board of Trade November (X) futures, which gained 7 cents during the session to $11.6125/bushel.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed SOYBEX FOB New Orleans for September shipment at $483.27/metric ton on Aug. 3, up about $1.74 from the previous assessment. Platts assessed CIF New Orleans for August shipment at $478.49/mt.

On Aug. 3, the US Department of Agriculture announced the sale of 488,000 mt of soybeans for delivery to China during the 2026-27 marketing year. A sale of 136,150 mt for delivery to unknown destinations was also reported.

Total sales to China this year were confirmed at 3.533 million mt as of Aug. 3, according to S&P Global Energy CERA.

Despite the USDA confirming China trades, a trader in the FOB Gulf market said it had "hit equilibrium for the moment with FOB beans offered at the same level [as Friday]."

The soybean and soybean oil markets awaited the publication of the US Environmental Protection Agency's ruling on small-refinery exception petitions.

"Looks like the board is getting a little support from oil today," the trader in the soybean CIF NOLA market said. "The EPA isn't good at scheduling [the publication of the rulings], so we know we'll have it by Wednesday but no idea what time."

According to Reuters, the EPA granted Delek US Holdings Inc. (DK.N), opens new tab, a full exemption from federal biofuel blending requirements for 2024, and declared hardship waiver petitions for two refineries owned by HF Sinclair Corp. (DINO.N), opens new tab, ineligible.

Platts Latin America Soybean Meal Daily Commentary

- FOB prices increase amid slightly higher CBOT futures
- Strike affects vessel flow in Argentina's river corridor
- FOB Paranaguá trades higher for September shipments

South American soybean meal FOB prices rose on Aug. 3 amid slightly higher Chicago Board of Trade futures, as the market's attention turned to a strike in Argentina.

Local media reported that Argentine maritime pilots announced a lockout to protest Decree 690/2026. The decree deregulates pilotage by opening pilot registration, capping pilotage fees, easing contracting and allowing qualified foreign captains to navigate without hiring pilots.

Due to the strike, vessel traffic in the Paraná River corridor has been severely impacted, affecting exports from the Rosario hub, participants said.

The FOB Up River cargo market was mostly empty throughout the session, with traders reluctant to put basis indications amid the strike. Discussions for September shipments widened to $5-$9/short ton over the CBOT references.

Brazil's FOB Paranaguá, in turn, was more active for nearby loadings, with parcels negotiated for September dates at plus $15/st and plus $16/st to the CBOT benchmarks.

The CBOT September (U) contract settled at $315.40/st, up 50 cents/st.

Platts European Animal Feed Daily Commentary

- Low Rhine water levels raise concerns
- Weather, disease drag Spanish feed market

Northern Europe

Dutch soybean meal prices weakened amid low demand, according to market participants.

A Netherlands-based broker said that record-low water levels on the Rhine River have curtailed the movement of goods amid high temperatures and a lack of rainfall.

Indications for Dutch October delivery were heard at €361.92/metric ton and for November/December delivery at €365.74/mt.

Southern Europe

In Spain, demand has fallen, according to market participants, as concerns about disease and unusually high temperatures weigh on consumption.

A trader said summer normally brings lower demand because livestock eat less, but this year high temperatures are further reducing intake. The decline is being felt across both pig and poultry farming, with Newcastle disease also contributing. Seasonal heat-related reductions are expected to continue pressuring demand.

Most buyers have already covered their needs for August and September, and with weaker feed requirements, raw material prices may ease.

Platts Asia Palm Oil Daily Commentary

- Asian palm oil futures decline
- Malaysia July palm oil output rises 1.28%
- India fills 70% August demand, awaits lower prices: trader

The Asian palm oil market was mixed Aug. 3, with palm oil futures on Bursa Malaysia declining following weaker energy markets.

Malaysia's Southern Peninsular Palm Oil Millers Association (SPPOMA) reported an increase in palm oil production for July compared to last month. Yield decreased 0.09%, oil extraction rose 0.26% and overall production was up 1.28%.

The benchmark palm oil contract for October delivery on the Bursa Malaysia commodity exchange declined 14 ringgit/mt to 4,629 ringgit/mt on Aug. 3.

The benchmark RBD Palm Olein for September delivery on the Dalian Commodity Exchange dipped 82 yuan/mt to 9,253 yuan/mt on Aug. 3.

The benchmark Soybean Oil for September delivery on the Dalian Commodity Exchange fell 9 yuan/mt to 8,385 yuan/mt on Aug. 3.

Slow activity in the Indian market with 1,000-2,000 mt traded.

The traded price was heard at $1,230/mt on the West Coast of India for August shipments.

Soybean oil offers were heard at $1,267/mt on a CFR West Coast India basis for September to December shipment.

The spread between palm oil and soybean oil was about $30/mt. India's buying interest in palm oil may ease if the spread narrows.

India has already filled about 70% of its August demand, so buyers are not being aggressive and are waiting for a lower price, an India-based trader said.

Platts assessed CPO CFR WC India at $1,230/mt Aug. 3 for August loading, up $2.50/mt from July 31, while September shipment was $10/mt higher than August.

Platts assessed CPO FOB Indonesia at $1,187.50/mt Aug. 3 for August loading, down $2.50/mt from July 31, while September shipment was $17.50/mt higher than August.

Platts assessed RBDPS FOB Indonesia at $1,062.50/mt Aug. 3 for July loading, up $2.50/mt from July 31, while September shipment was $20/mt higher than August.

Platts Latin America Soybean Oil Daily Commentary

- Brazilian, Argentine soybean oil prices rise
- CBOT futures climbs 2.27% on short covering
- Argentina pilot strike disrupts port activity

Brazilian and Argentine soybean oil FOB prices strengthened Aug. 3 as a recovery in Chicago Board of Trade soybean oil futures more than offset weaker export basis values, while a labor dispute involving Argentina's maritime pilots introduced a new source of uncertainty for regional export logistics.

CBOT September soybean oil futures settled at 68.79 cents/pound Aug. 3, up 1.53 cents, or 2.27%, from July 31.

Market participants said soybean oil futures recovered after the recent sell-off, supported by bargain buying and short covering. Traders, however, continued to monitor US crop conditions and weather forecasts, which remained broadly favorable for soybean development and underpinned expectations for ample new-crop supplies.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed Argentina soybean oil FOB Up River for September loading at $1,190.28/metric ton Aug. 3, up $11.69 from July 31.

The September Up River paper basis was assessed 100 points lower at minus 1,480 points against the CBOT September soybean oil futures contract.

Although the basis weakened, the recovery in CBOT futures lifted the outright FOB assessment to its highest level in nearly two weeks.

In Brazil, Platts assessed soybean oil FOB Paranaguá for September loading at $1,192.48/mt, up $9.48 from July 31.

The September Paranaguá paper basis weakened 110 points to minus 1,470 points against CBOT September futures.

Platts also assessed soybean oil FOB Paranaguá for October loading at $1,192.92/mt, up $8.15 from the previous assessment.

The October Paranaguá paper basis was assessed 100 points lower at minus 1,430 points against the CBOT October soybean oil futures contract.

Market participants said the weaker basis reflected the sharp recovery in CBOT soybean oil futures rather than a deterioration in underlying physical demand. Even after the adjustment, Brazilian September soybean oil maintained a $2.20/mt premium to the comparable Argentine assessment, while the Paranaguá basis remained 10 points stronger than the Up River basis.

Attention also turned to developments in Argentina's export logistics after maritime pilots suspended services Aug. 2 in protest against Decree 690/2026, which slowed vessel movements at the country's ports.

Pilotage is mandatory for oceangoing ships navigating Argentina's ports and inland waterways, including the Paraná River and Rosario Up River export corridor, through which much of the country's soybean oil, soybean meal, corn, and wheat exports are shipped.

Market participants said the immediate impact on agricultural exports would largely depend on the dispute's duration. While crushing plants and export terminals can continue operating, restrictions on vessel movements could delay cargo loadings, increase congestion, and raise demurrage costs if the stoppage persists.

The Aug. 3 session reinforced the divergence between financial and physical soybean oil markets. While stronger CBOT futures drove outright FOB prices higher, basis values softened as exporters adjusted differentials to the higher futures market. Traders said physical demand remained broadly steady, but developments surrounding Argentina's pilotage dispute would be closely monitored as a potential risk to nearby export logistics should vessel delays begin to accumulate.

Platts Europe Vegetable Oil Daily Commentary

- Rapeseed oil corrects sharply across forward curve
- Sunflower oil remains supported by logistics
- Improving harvest outlook pressures rapeseed complex

European vegetable oil markets fell sharply on Aug. 3, led by a significant correction across the rapeseed oil forward curve, while sunflower oil remained unchanged.

FOB Black Sea sunflower oil held at $1,379/metric ton, highlighting the continued disconnect between the sunflower and rapeseed markets. RSO FOB Dutch Mills front-month plunged €100 to €1,146/mt, while second, third and fourth positions declined €27, €13 and €45 to €1,127/mt, €1,124/mt and €1,089/mt respectively. The broad-based decline suggests a substantial reassessment of rapeseed oil fundamentals following recent expectations of improved new-crop availability.

The sharp correction reflects increasing confidence that European and Black Sea rapeseed supplies will improve during the new marketing season. Recent forecasts for larger oilseed harvests, combined with advancing harvest activity, have reduced concerns over medium-term supply availability. As a result, the strong risk premium that had previously supported deferred rapeseed oil values has unwound rapidly.

In contrast, the Black Sea sunflower oil market remains stable despite ongoing geopolitical uncertainty. Continued logistical disruption, limited old-crop availability and uncertainty surrounding export infrastructure continue to underpin nearby values. However, physical trading activity remains subdued, with market participants relying largely on indicative pricing rather than active spot transactions.

The widening divergence between the sunflower and rapeseed complexes has become increasingly apparent. Rapeseed oil is responding primarily to improving supply expectations and harvest progress, while sunflower oil continues to derive support from constrained export logistics and limited old-crop availability. Unless Black Sea logistics improve materially or new-crop sunflower supplies reach the market more quickly than expected, sunflower oil is likely to remain significantly more resilient than rapeseed oil despite the broader weakness across the vegetable oil complex.

US DATA: Corn export inspections rise 22.9% on week to 1.88 million mt

- Mexico leads US corn destinations with 490,997 mt
- MY 2025-26 exports as of July 30 rise 25.4% on year

US corn export inspections climbed 22.9% week over week to 1.88 million metric tons over July 24-July 30, data from the US Department of Agriculture showed Aug. 3.

Mexico was the top destination for US corn inspected for export, with 490,997 mt, followed by South Korea with 351,654 mt and Japan with 231,199 mt, the data showed.

Corn export inspections through July 30 in marketing year 2025-26 (September-August) rose 25.4% year over year to 77.27 million mt, according to the USDA.

In its World Agricultural Supply and Demand Estimates report released July 10, the USDA forecast corn exports at 84.46 million mt in MY 2025-26, up 15.7% year over year.

The US is expected to harvest 432.34 million mt of corn in MY 2025-26, up 14.3% year over year, the USDA said.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, last assessed US corn CIF New Orleans at $215.65/mt on July 31, down $1.95/mt day over day.

China secures 488,000 mt of US soybeans for MY 2026-27: USDA

- New crop US soybean sales to China continue
- China books 3.53 mil mt of US soybeans for MY 2026-27
- Tariffs weigh on US soybean competitiveness in China

US private exporters reported sales of 488,000 metric tons of soybeans to China for delivery in marketing year 2026-27 (September-August), the US Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agricultural Service said Aug. 3.

The latest purchase brings total known Chinese commitments of US soybeans for MY 2026-27 to 3.53 million mt, according to Platts calculations based on USDA data. Platts is part of S&P Global Energy.

Outstanding sales of US soybeans to China for MY 2026-27 stood at 2.78 million mt as of July 23, USDA data released July 30 showed. Additional flash sales to China reported by the USDA after July 23 total 752,000 mt.

The purchases come amid improving US-China trade ties following the Beijing summit in May.

Under the Busan agreement reached in October 2025, China committed to purchase at least 25 million mt of US soybeans annually from 2026 to 2028.

S&P Global Energy CERA expects US soybean exports to China to reach 25 million mt in MY 2026-27.

USDA forecasts total US soybean exports at 1.66 billion bushels for MY 2026-27, up 9.2% year over year. CERA projects exports slightly higher at 1.7 billion bushels, up 11.5% year over year.

"Price matters when it comes to China's purchases of US soybeans," a China-based trade source said, adding that Brazil remains the preferred origin for most buyers.

US soybeans remain less competitive than Brazilian supplies for Chinese private crushers, and an additional 10% tariff further increases their cost disadvantage, CERA said in a July 31 report.

Platts assessed SOYBEX CFR China first month at $527.18/mt on Aug. 3, down $4.13/mt day over day.

Platts assessed SOYBEX FOB New Orleans at $481.53/mt on July 31, down 82 cents/mt day over day.

Assessment RationaleGrains*Platts Ags EMEA Wheat Daily Rationale

Platts assessed the Milling Wheat Marker at $225/metric ton on Aug. 3, down $1/mt from the previous assessment. Russian 12.5% handysize wheat, assessed at $225/mt, was the most competitive wheat out of the three components of the Milling Wheat Marker, which also includes Ukraine 11.5% at $230.63/mt when adding July's quality normalization of $8.63/mt, to account for its lower protein content, and CVB 12.5% wheat, assessed at $266.5/mt on the day. The structure between the second half of August and the first half of September was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from Aug. 31 - Sept. 14.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Russian deepsea, 12.5% protein) down $1/mt at $225/mt on Aug. 3, in line with trades last heard at $225/mt, below an offer at $226/mt and above a bid at $224/mt. The structure between the second half of August and the first half of September was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from Aug. 28 - Sept. 11.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Ukraine deepsea, 11.5% protein) unchanged at $222/mt on Aug. 3. Trading activity in Ukraine remains limited due to strikes on port and export infrastructure. The structure between the second half of August and the first half of September was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window from Aug. 28 - Sept. 11.

Exclusions: No market data was excluded from the Aug. 3 Black Sea wheat assessments.
