Commentary and Analysis

Wheat

Platts European Wheat Daily Commentary

- Wheat marker holds steady at $214/mt
- Saudi Arabia cancels 535,000 mt tender
- French wheat prices edge up marginally

Platts Milling wheat marker was unchanged on the day at $214/mt on Sept. 7.

A local news agency reported on Sept. 7 that Saudi Arabia's General Food Security Authority (GFSA) canceled its international tender to purchase 535,000 mt of hard milling wheat after deeming the submitted offers unsuitable, highlighting buyers' reluctance to accept current price levels. Market participants said the development could weigh on sentiment in the wheat market, amid already subdued trading activity.

A trader stated, "The market is calm today because Chicago is closed, with activity expected to pick up tomorrow." Another trader noted that there were very few offers in the market, and there is roughly a $10/mt spread between offers and bids in the CVB market.

The French wheat market edged up marginally on the day, with both CPT and FOB up Eur 3.50/mt and Eur 0.50/mt respectively. During the day, indications for the January-February-March loading period from Rouen were seen at Eur2.5 over MH. While the same period from La Pallice was seen at Eur5.5 over MH. No bids were heard for September as a trader said buyers are already covered for the period.

Platts Asia Wheat Daily Commentary

- Australian wheat prices rise on stronger currency
- Traders report deals to Southeast Asian buyers
- Rain forecast for Western Australia regions

Australian wheat prices rose Sept. 7 amid a stronger Australian dollar and firm offer levels, while destination markets showed consistent demand.

Platts Australian Premium White assessment rose $1/metric ton day over day to $315/mt FOB Kwinana, while Australian Standard White wheat with no protein guarantee climbed $1/mt to $306/mt on Sept. 7.

Market participants reported several deals for Australian and Argentine origin wheat to Southeast Asian destination buyers in the week to Sept. 4.

A trader reported a deal for bulk ASW1 in the $330s/mt CFR Indonesia for October-November shipment from Western Australia.

"Buyers are expecting lower prices with peace talks," said a Singapore-based research analyst. "Nothing much has changed between Friday and today, maybe on the Aussie side, they should feel that they should have sold at a higher price".

Rain and thunderstorms are expected across eastern and

Corn

Platts Asia Corn Daily Commentary

- Asian corn prices fall tracking CBOT futures
- South Korean buyers on sidelines amid tender expectations
- South American corn most competitive origin

Asian corn prices fell Sept. 7, tracking lower Chicago Board of Trade futures.

Platts assessed feed-quality corn CFR Northeast Asia down $1.50/metric ton day over day at $292.50/mt for cargoes arriving over Dec. 6-Jan. 5.

South Korean buyers remained on the sidelines, although expectations of a tender for a December-arrival cargo increased ahead of the Chuseok holidays, according to South Korea-based sources.

"Big buying groups will most likely move first and then others will consider buying," said a South Korea-based trade agent.

South American corn was the most competitive as shown by the Platts Arbitrage Matrix, with the most competitive October shipment Argentina origin's replacement value at $293/mt, Brazil corn at $295.44/mt and November shipment US PNW corn at $304.03/mt.

In Vietnam, South America-origin corn offers were reported at $294/mt CFR Vietnam for November-December shipment partial cargoes, up $4/mt day over day.

Thailand's corn harvest is progressing, according to several Southeast Asian grain sources, with a Vietnamese feed miller noting that local Thai corn prices had fallen below 10 baht/kg ($300/mt) in the previous week.

Platts European Corn Daily Commentary

- Black Sea corn prices remain unchanged Sept. 7
- October CVB spread holds at 30 cents differential
- Exporters await logistics conditions before committing grain

The Black Sea corn market held steady on Sept. 7, with participants adopting a wait-and-watch approach as the new-crop harvest advances without immediate trading activity.

Ukrainian-origin corn price indications remained stable, with no fresh offers surfacing to challenge existing levels. The lack of new seller interest suggests exporters continue to assess harvest progress and quality before committing additional volumes to the export market.

In the Constanta-Varna-Burgas market, the price structure remained unchanged. The October bid-offer differential was about 30 cents/bushel over December corn futures, with sellers at 180 cents over and buyers at 150 cents over.

The current market positioning reflects a broader pattern in which participants are monitoring crop development and logistics conditions before making forward commitments. With the new-crop season underway but not yet in full swing, sources indicated that clearer directional signals would likely emerge once harvest volumes increase and quality parameters become better established.

Pricing stability comes as the market digests recent shifts in transport patterns and export flows, with participants awaiting confirmation that new-crop logistics will support sustained export activity through the fall.

Oilseeds

Platts Asia Soybean Daily Commentary

- Nearby shipments traded
- Thin buying interest for Brazilian soybeans

CFR China soybean prices for month-one October shipments were down $2.11/metric ton day over day at $591.67/mt on Sept. 7, while the basis was down 6 cents/bushel at 300 cents/bu over November (X) Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) futures.

Overnight, the CFR China market saw limited trading activity, with only some buying interest heard for nearby shipments.

One soybean cargo for Brazil's November shipment was heard traded into China, with a Chinese soybean trader saying the traded values were likely in the low 300s cents/bu over November (X) CBOT.

The bid-ask spread for November shipment stood at 17 cents/bu, with the lowest indicative offer at 307 cents/bu over November (X) CBOT, basis CFR China.

One cargo for October-November straddle shipment was also heard traded at 300 cents/bu over November (X) CBOT, basis CFR China.

"There is a lack of willingness among Chinese buyers to pay up at current price levels for Brazilian soybeans," a second Chinese soybean trader said.

Animal Feed

Platts European Animal Feed Daily Commentary

- Dutch soybean meal holds steady
- Rhine water level drops to 34 cm
- Spanish markets remain flat amid US closure

Northern Europe

The Dutch soybean meal market was unchanged on Sept. 7. According to a broker's report, the soybean meal offers for October FOB ARAG are unchanged at $474/mt.

According to the European Waterways Information Service, the Rhine river level at Kaub, Germany, fell to 34 cm on Sept. 7, from 46 cm on Sept. 4 morning.

Southern Europe

The Spanish corn and soybean meal markets were unchanged Sept. 7.

A trader said the market is quiet Sept. 7 as Chicago is closed, so prices are mostly similar.

Vegetable Oils

Platts Asia Palm Oil Daily Commentary

- Futures firm on Indonesian supply concerns
- Stearin, PFAD fall as demand stays absent

The Asian palm oil market was mixed Sept. 7, with palm oil futures on Bursa Malaysia rising while physical trade was absent across RBD palm stearin and PFAD.

The benchmark palm oil contract for November delivery on the Bursa Malaysia commodity exchange rose 48 ringgit/mt to 4,979 ringgit/mt Sept. 7.

The benchmark RBD Palm Olein for January delivery on the Dalian Commodity Exchange gained 124 yuan/mt to 10,354 yuan/mt Sept. 7.

The benchmark Soybean Oil for January delivery on the Dalian Commodity Exchange rose 7 yuan/mt to 9,172 yuan/mt Sept. 7.

The FOB Indonesia market was quiet during the day, with no trades concluded across CPO, RBD palm stearin and PFAD. Demand for stearin and PFAD was absent, with bids indicated at wide discounts to offers, a Singapore-based trader said.

In the CFR market in India, demand remained sluggish with no trades concluded, as adequate domestic stock levels reduced buying interest, an India-based trader said.

"The market was quiet with limited activity," the trader said.

The September-October carry for CPO CFR West Coast India narrowed to $10-$15/mt from $20-$25/mt the previous week, with buyers unwilling to pay for deferred shipment, another India-based market participant said.

Platts assessed September-loading CPO CFR West Coast India at $1,285/mt Sept. 7, up $7.50/mt day over day, while October shipment was $15/mt higher than September.

Platts assessed September-loading CPO FOB Indonesia at $1,235/mt Sept. 7, up $5/mt day over day, while October shipment was $20/mt higher than September.

typical export destinations, weighed against ongoing port issues in Ukraine.

European rapeseed oil moved in the opposite direction. RSO FOB Dutch Mills front-month remained unchanged at €1,215/mt, while the second position rose €15/mt to €1,196/mt, the third increased €8/mt to €1,187/mt and the fourth rose €7/mt to €1,131/mt. The gains further along the curve narrowed the front-to-second backwardation to €19/mt from €34/mt previously, indicating stronger deferred values while prompt physical prices remained elevated.

A trader based in India said sunflower oil remained expensive relative to soybean oil, with current fundamentals not strong enough to justify aggressive buying. While broader strength across vegetable oils and crude oil has provided support, the relative pricing of competing oils has become increasingly important. Palm oil has strengthened sharply alongside crude, while Chicago Board of Trade soybean oil has corrected, widening spreads across the vegetable oil complex. The source said this could eventually redirect some demand toward soybean oil and further limit buying interest for sunflower oil at current relative values.

The bearish demand picture is being balanced by continued Black Sea logistical uncertainty. Maritime disruption has significantly reduced Ukrainian vegetable oil shipment capacity, while attacks on port infrastructure have also affected regional flows. However, underlying sunflower seed availability remained relatively comfortable. This created the potential for a greater oil supply if logistics improve, leaving forward sunflower oil values vulnerable to further pressure as new-crop volumes enter the market.

The divergence between sunflower and rapeseed oil was therefore particularly pronounced. Black Sea sunflower oil fell $30/mt while most European RSO positions strengthened, highlighting increasingly commodity-specific fundamentals. For sunflower oil, comfortable new-crop prospects and weak demand were exerting downward pressure, while crude-driven strength in palm and changing spreads against soybean oil reshaped relative competitiveness across the vegetable oil complex.

Assessment Rationale

Grains

Platts Ags EMEA Wheat Daily Rationale

Platts assessed the Milling Wheat Marker at $214/metric ton Sept. 7, unchanged from the previous assessment. Russian 12.5% handysize wheat, assessed at $214/mt, was the most competitive wheat out of the three components of the Milling Wheat Marker, which also includes Ukraine 11.5% at $216.31/mt when adding August’s quality normalization of $2.31/ mt, to account for its lower protein content, and CVB 12.5% wheat assessed at $300.50/mt on the day. The structure between the first half and the second half of October was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window of Oct. 5-19.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Russian deepsea, 12.5% protein) unchanged at $214/mt Sept. 7. Participants said market activity was limited from deepsea ports amid execution risk. The structure between the first half and the second half of October was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window of Oct. 5-19.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Ukraine deepsea, 11.5% protein) unchanged at $213/mt Sept. 7. Trading activity in Ukraine out of POC ports remains limited amid strikes on port and export infrastructure. The structure between the first half and the second half of October was assessed as flat. This reflects the Platts assessment window of Oct. 5-19.

Exclusions: No market data was excluded from the Sept. 7 Black Sea wheat assessments.
