Commentary and Analysis

Wheat

Platts European Wheat Daily Commentary

- Milling wheat holds steady at $242.25/mt
- Tunisia buys 75,000 mt at $268.16/mt

The Milling wheat marker was unchanged day over day on June 4 at $242.25/metric ton.

According to a Russian wheat trader, the FOB NOVO offers dropped to $245/mt for July, but no buyer interest was seen day over day.

"A good yield, matching the estimations, is expected," a trader said regarding the local wheat harvest in Turkey.

A local media outlet reported that Tunisia's ODC purchased 75,000 mt of soft wheat in a June 4 tender, accepting Bunge's offer at $268.16/mt on a C&F basis (optionally $267.59 for a 25,000-ton tranche). Shipments will be delivered in three 25,000-mt batches from July 1 to August 15.

Platts Asia Wheat Daily Commentary

- Australian wheat prices ease
- Philippines buys four feed wheat cargoes
- South Korea tenders for milling wheat

Prices for Australian Premium White wheat and Australian Standard White with no protein guarantee dropped $1/metric ton day over day to $281/mt and $275/mt, respectively, on June 4, tracking lower value indications and regional trades, alongside a weaker Australian dollar.

The Australian dollar extended its decline week over week, trading 0.36% lower at 71.3 US cents at 1630 SGT (0830 GMT).

With weather conditions improving across New South Wales and follow-up rains in Western Australia, cash markets have stayed on a weaker note throughout the week. However, trading remained cautious due to a drier long-term outlook as the 2026-27 (October-September) season progressed, a Perth-based trade source said.

The trade source added that new crop grower sales remained subdued as a result.

Four cargoes of Australian feed wheat were sold to the Philippines late June 3, according to multiple Asian trade sources.

The buyers issued two international buy tenders for Australian feed wheat June 3, according to several trade sources in Singapore and Manila. The first buyer sought three positions, each for 56,000 mt, for shipment between mid-August and mid-October, while the second buyer sought 35,000 mt for August-September shipment.

The cargoes were heard traded in the high $290s/mt to the low $300s/mt, CFR, several Australian and Southeast Asian sources said.

Another Philippine feed buyer is expected to seek feed wheat offers for mid-August and mid-September arrivals via a tender June 5, according to a Singapore-based grains trader.

Meanwhile, a South Korean milling wheat buyer invited offers for Australian and US milling wheat via tenders June 4, a Seoul-based trade source said.

In the first tender, the buyer sought 10,000 mt of Australian Standard White Korea-spec wheat for Sept. 15-Oct. 15 shipment. In the second tender for US milling wheat, the buyer sought 7,800 mt of soft white wheat (9.5-11% protein), 1,000 mt of hard red winter wheat (11.5% protein), and 10,700 mt of northern spring or dark northern spring wheat (14% protein, DHV 50).

Platts Canada Wheat Daily Commentary

- Futures drive cash prices lower
- Stable basis fails to motivate new trading

Platts assessed Canada Western Red Spring Wheat 13.5% FOB Vancouver 30-45 days forward at $255.37/metric ton on June 4, down $1.93/mt on the day.

Basis levels held stable on stagnant trading, caused in part by the ongoing selling in futures.

The July (N) M1AX Hard Red Spring wheat futures contract fell 5.75 cents/bushel to $6.21/bu, and the September (U) contract fell 3.75 cents/bushel to $6.4725/bu.

“Trading has hit a bit of a stand-off,” an exporter said.

“Producers will not sell at the current prices and buyers are waiting for downward movement to stop before pulling the trigger on new purchases.”

The stable basis levels did not fully reflect the current market conditions, with basis expected to need to be at higher levels to motivate new trade activity.

“Farmers have just finished seeding in some cases, making it very difficult to secure volume and offset sales risk,” the exporter said.

Corn

Platts Asia Corn Daily Commentary

- Asian corn prices fall third straight day; South Korea buys cargo at $260.98/mt CFR
- Vietnam feed millers active for July-Aug shipment partial cargoes
- Philippines buys 11 cargoes of corn, feed wheat and soybean meal

Asian corn prices declined for the third day in a row following a South Korean tender deal and lower Chicago Board of Trade futures.

Platts assessed the feed quality corn CFR Northeast Asia down $3/metric ton at $259/mt for cargoes arriving over Sept. 2 to Oct. 2.

A South Korean feed milling group purchased one Oct. 30 arrival cargo of worldwide origin optionality corn at $260.98/mt CFR Pyeongtaek at the tender on June 4.

Market participants were highly bearish on the market after observing the sharp decline in CBOT futures, with one South Korean trade agent saying “everyone wants to cut and sell first.”

In Vietnam, feed millers were heard to be “very active” in procuring partial cargoes from traders for the July and August

The same feed miller said that feed millers had completed about 80%-90% of coverage for June shipment and about 30%-40% for July and August shipments.

A Vietnamese feed miller opened a tender on June 4 for 21,000 mt of August shipment corn and another 21,000 mt of September shipment corn.

In the Philippines, market sources said that 4 feed wheat, 3 corn and 4 soybean meal cargoes were sold to two Philippine feed milling buyer groups on June 3.

Platts US Corn Daily Commentary

- US corn prices decline on fund liquidation
- CBOT July futures settle down 7 cents
- USDA reports 883,300 mt corn sales drop 13%

US corn Platts outright prices declined on June 4, tracking the Chicago Board of Trade amid a mixed market environment.

The CBOT July (N) future contracts lost 7 cents on June 4, settling at $4.2450/bushel. While September (U) closed at $4.3275/bushel, decreasing 7.50 cents in the same period.

Sources have also reported pressure in the market due to funds rolling into new-crop contracts, China not buying US crops, and a drop in energy.

According to a broker, 85% of the corn harvested in the 2025-26 marketing year (September-August) has been sold, with an average price of $5.05/bu.

The US Department of Agriculture confirmed private export sales of 115,000 metric tons of corn for delivery to Colombia for the MY 2026-27.

USDA published its US Export Sales weekly report on June 4, showing that 883,300 mt of corn were sold during the period of May 22-28, a 13% decrease from the prior week and 6% below the same week last year.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed on June 4 the outright price for June shipments to New Orleans in the incoterm CIF at $199.00/mt and for July shipments at $201.75/mt. And FOB Gulf for August was assessed at $208.17/mt.

Platts European Corn Daily Commentary

- Turkish and Italian demand slow for Ukrainian corn
- Romania faces a tight supply for July exports

The Black Sea corn market fell on June 4, as sellers reduced their offers amid slow demand in destination markets.

In the FOB market, the competitive offer for July loading was $237/metric ton, down $1/mt from the previous day.

Importers from Turkey said that attractive prices for wheat and barley are limiting the feed industry's corn purchases.

"Corn buyers are not active because TMO has set market prices for wheat and barley,” an importer said.

In the destination market, Italy, demand for corn by the feed industry is slow amid the conflict.

“Some industries report their inventories one month later due to slower feed usage for animals,” an importer said. “Since the war started, retail consumption has dropped dramatically — meat, eggs, poultry, and flour mill semolina, among other products — down by 20% over the last two months.”

According to lineup data shared by a trader, Egypt imported approximately 658,149.47 mt of corn in May. Argentina was the sole origin to arrive in the Egyptian market.

Meanwhile, importers in Egypt said that demand for corn is slow and that South American corn remains more competitive than Ukrainian-origin corn.

In the CVB market, traders said only 100,000-150,000 mt of corn is available for export from Romania, and the market remains slow for July shipments due to limited supply.

“In Romania, we have just finished the old-crop corn,” a Romania-based seller said. “Stocks are not too high; they can be carried into next season or sold to the domestic market.”

Platts Asia Soybean Daily Commentary

- Old and new crop shipments traded
- Higher old crop prices shift demand to new crop

CFR China soybean month-one July shipment was down $7.99/metric ton day over day at $489.52/mt June 4, while basis was unchanged at 185 cents/bu over July (N) Chicago Board of Trade (CBOT) futures.

Overnight, one cargo of new crop March shipment was heard traded at 101 cents/bu over March (H) CBOT. Cargoes of old crop August shipment were also heard traded at 205-210 cents/bu over July (N) CBOT, basis CFR China.

One cargo of July-August straddle shipment was also heard traded at 193 cents/bu over July (N) CBOT, basis CFR China.

Buying interests were partly driven by short covering, which lent support to Brazilian basis premiums, according to an Asian soybean trader.

Another Chinese soybean trader added that overall Brazilian basis premiums have strengthened by 2-3 cents/bu, day over day.

Meanwhile, Chinese domestic crush margins have improved day over day, with replacement crush margins calculated at Yuan 13/mt, up from Yuan 9/mt.

The China gross crush margin was assessed at $21.66/mt June 4, up $2.43/mt day over day.

According to a Chinese soybean trader, as of June 2, 68% of the total open demand, at 9.8 million mt of the July shipment, has been covered.

Meanwhile, 45% of the total open demand, at 8 million mt, for the August shipment has been covered.

Platts US Soybeans Daily Commentary

- Outright prices plunge pressured by futures
- No reason for traders to be bullish: sources

The US soybean market saw outright prices plunge on June 4 amid massive selling in the futures market, sources say, with no bullish news on China-US trade.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed SOYBEX FOB New Orleans for July shipment at $9.01/metric ton, down from June 3 at $451.76/mt. This was despite the Platts assessed basis for FOB Gulf for the July shipment remaining steady day over day at 100 cents/bushel over the July (N) soybeans futures contract.

Platts assessed the outright price for CIF New Orleans for June shipment at $9/mt, down from the previous business day at $446.25/mt. Platts assessed the basis for CIF NOLA for June shipment also remained unchanged day over day at 85 cents/bu over the July (N) soybeans futures contract.

CBOT soybean futures dropped on June 4, with July (N) contract falling 24.5 cents to 1,129.50 cents/bu, and August (Q) contract falling 25.75 cents to 1,132.5 cents/bu.

According to sources, the decline is due to a lack of bullish news or catalysts, creating a bearish environment that could persist through the week starting on June 8.

"I think the real question is: can you think of a reason to be bullish?" a trader in the FOB Gulf market said. "Pretty much all the reasons some were getting long on are not playing out this week. China isn't buying, weather is improving, etc."

"Some entities are liquidating record-long positions," a second trader in the CIF NOLA market said. "That is combining with some rolling to new crop contracts, and we've blown through just about every support level on every chart. This will probably continue into next week sometime."

"The only other thing happening news-wise is [US President Donald] Trump saying they're close to a deal with Iran," the second trader said. "I don't think they are, but energies are lower on that."

The US Department of Agriculture published its US Export Sales weekly report on June 4, showing that 276,900 mt of soybeans were sold during the period of May 22-28.

This amount is "down 8% from the previous week, but up 24% from the prior 4-week average," the document says. The total is also in the middle of market expectations, which range from 100,000 mt to 500,000 mt.

China bought about 74,800 mt, Mexico 67,400 mt, and Indonesia 53,700 mt.

Animal Feed

Platts European Animal Feed Daily Commentary

- Dutch soybean meal prices stay stable
- Corn demand weakens amid barley competition

Northern Europe

The Dutch soybean meal market remained stable June 4.

According to the feed mills list published on June 4, June and July offers were at $424/mt and $415/mt.

Traders noted that the spread was due to a tighter supply in June compared to July.

A corn trader in the Netherlands said the corn market was weak, with most demand replaced by barley and feed wheat.

A broker said that in the Dutch market, the spread between old crop corn and feed wheat was about Eur31-32/mt. For the new crop, arriving by October, the spread decreases to Eur9-10/mt.

Southern Europe

Spanish corn and soybean meal markets were bearish June 4.

A broker said that feed wheat and corn prices are now equal, adding that this does not necessarily mean demand will fully shift, as it depends on the feed formulation.

A soybean meal trader noted that, amid lower futures prices, offer levels for soybean meal eased. The trader also added that Spain has sufficient supply through July, with more arrivals expected and current stocks ample.

Platts US Distiller Grains DDGS Daily Commentary

- Sharp drop in prices seen on June 4
- CIF New Orleans June price plunges $10/st overnight: sources

Low demand in the export market and an increase in production at the end of the plant maintenance season saw US dried distillers grains with solubles outright prices drop further on June 4, with a bearish sentiment heard among participants.

Platts assessed CIF New Orleans DDGS barges for the June shipment period at $215/short ton on June 4, $4 down from June 3. The Chicago DDGS truck market for the same delivery period was assessed at $186/st, down $10/st from June 3, and the South California rail market for the June delivery period was assessed at $231/st, down $6/st from June 3.

The sharp decrease in the Chicago DDGS truck market was seen overnight, with trades heard at $192/st and $190/st for June shipment on June 3, followed by values lowering to high $180s/st later in the evening, sources said, with levels settling at $185-$186/st on June 4.

Sources said pressure across DDGS markets was driven by the end of the plant maintenance season, which has increased production, along with low export demand and an upcoming period of weak demand.

"All those things [are influencing prices]," a trader said.

"I'm hearing exports getting quiet," a second trader said. "More production available as well."

Vegetable Oils

Platts Asia Palm Oil Daily Commentary

- Asian palm oil futures fall on weak demand
- Indian buyers delay purchases, await lower prices

The Asian palm oil market weakened June 4.

Palm oil futures on Bursa Malaysia Derivatives declined amid slow demand in the palm market and weaker soybean oil futures.

The benchmark palm oil contract for August delivery on the Bursa Malaysia commodity exchange declined MR75/metric ton to MR4,602/mt on June 4.

The Indian spot market remained slow as buyers expected palm oil prices to fall further and become more cost-effective versus soybean oil. They were not in a hurry to purchase, with sufficient supply in the domestic market, a Singapore-based broker said.

Platts Europe Vegetable Oil Daily Commentary

- Nearby rapeseed oil prices outperform broader sentiment
- Europe remains key destination for Ukrainian rapeseed
- Physical demand supports front-end rapeseed oil values

European vegetable oil markets remained firm on June 4, with strength concentrated in nearby rapeseed oil values despite limited movement in sunflower oil.

Platts assessed FOB Black Sea sunflower oil prices unchanged at $1,379/metric ton, reflecting continued stability in the sunflower oil complex.

RSO FOB Dutch Mills front-month held at Eur1,149/mt, while second position prices increased Eur9 to Eur1,159/mt, widening the premium for nearby supply. Third and fourth positions remained unchanged at Eur1,131/mt, indicating that support is concentrated in the front end of the curve.

The rapeseed complex remained influenced by contrasting signals from financial and physical markets.

"The rapeseed complex remained divided between softer stock market dynamics and stronger near-term oil quotes," a Ukraine-based trader said.

This divergence suggests that while broader commodity and financial market sentiment may be less supportive, physical rapeseed oil fundamentals remains relatively tight, particularly in the nearby period where demand continues to support pricing.

Export flows from Ukraine highlight the continued importance of Europe as the primary destination for rapeseed.

Rapeseed exports from May 1-28 totaled 122,300 metric ton, with Belgium receiving 59,200 mt, Germany 35,800 mt, the Netherlands 22,600 mt and Czechia 4,600 mt, the same trader said.

Rapeseed oil exports also remained active, with 26,500 mt shipped during the same period.

For Europe, the combination of steady Ukrainian export flows and firmer nearby rapeseed oil prices suggests that physical demand remains sufficient to support the market despite mixed macroeconomic signals. The resulting market structure reflects a complex that is well supplied in the longer term but continues to exhibit tightness in nearby positions, particularly where demand from crushers and biodiesel producers remains concentrated.

Morocco's 2025-26 cereal imports at 13.9 mil mt in May amid port issues

- France leads soft wheat; Brazil tops maize
- Port congestion causes 20-30 days delays

Morocco's cereal and derivatives imports for the 2025-26 campaign totaled 13.93 million metric tons as of May 31, with soft wheat and maize accounting for the largest share of volumes, according to the National Federation of Grain and Legume Traders, or FNCL, import data by origin and arrival port, released June 3.

Soft wheat remained the dominant import category at 5.13 million mt, followed by maize at 3.76 million mt and durum wheat at 1.23 million mt.

Other major imported products included: soybean meal at 960,635 mt, rapeseed meal at 552,314 mt, and barley at 529,599 mt.

France remained the leading supplier of soft wheat, shipping 3.56 million mt out of the total 5.13 million mt soft wheat imports, the data showed.

Canada dominated durum wheat supplies, accounting for the full reported volume of 1.23 million mt.

For maize, Brazil was the largest origin with about 1.7 million mt, followed by Argentina at 1.3 million mt and the US at 677,000 mt.

The US led soybean meal shipments at 510,000 mt and was also the dominant supplier of DDGS, with 267,000 mt.

Morocco's port challenges

Casablanca was the main entry point, handling 8.60 million mt of the total import flow, far ahead of Jorf at 3.08 million mt and Agadir at 1.41 million mt, FNCL data showed. Smaller volumes were recorded through Nador, Safi and Tanger, reflecting a highly concentrated import structure around Casablanca and Jorf.

This comes despite logistical challenges at several Moroccan ports, caused by severe winter weather, which temporarily disrupted port operations and created a backlog.

A Morocco-based grain trader said this congestion underscores the limitations of processing capacity amid ongoing import volumes.

According to a member of the traders group FNCL, the logistical challenge at Casablanca port has led to delays in ships berthing, with importers incurring huge demurrage. "And today, we have a congestion that means that a vessel that will come to Morocco should know that it has to wait from 20 to 30 days before berthing," the trader said.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed wheat 11% FOB EU Rouen and CPT Rouen for the June period at Eur196.75/mt and Eur194.75/mt, respectively, June 3.

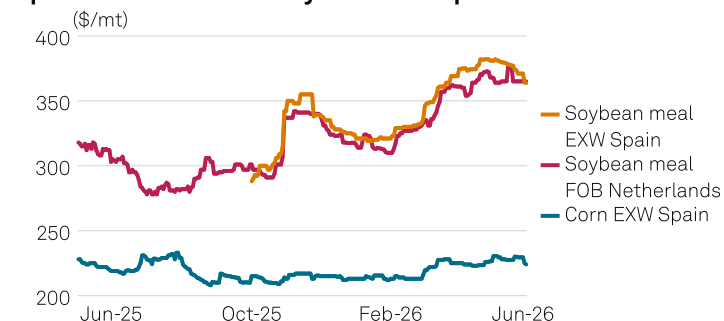

Spanish corn, soybean meal prices fall on ample supply, demand shift

- Soybean meal prices fall as supply increases
- Barley, wheat compete with corn

Spanish corn and soybean meal prices fell in the week to June 3 amid ample supply and as demand shifted toward other grains, such as barley and feed wheat, according to Spain-based traders, brokers and feed mills.

Platts, part of S&P Global Energy, assessed the EXW Spain corn price at Eur224/metric ton on June 3, down Eur5.50/mt week over week. EXW Spain soybean meal was assessed at Eur363.75/mt, down Eur7.25/mt over the same period. FOB Netherlands was assessed at Eur365/mt on June 3, unchanged week over week.

Spain EXW Corn and Soybean meal price

Spain corn market

Corn demand decreased as buyers shifted toward other grains such as barley and feed wheat, the market participants said.

"In the south of Lleida, barley harvesting has already begun," a domestic broker said.

Regarding reduced corn demand and the shift toward other cereals, the broker said choosing between corn and barley depends on the formula, adding that there are inelastic substitutes that are not price-sensitive due to their content specifications.

Participants said barley is offered at Eur210/mt for the June-July period and feed wheat is offered at Eur227/mt.

Spain soybean meal

The soybean meal price fell in the week to June 3 amid ample market supply, as several ships already arrived at Spanish ports from South America, soybean meal traders said.

"Even though there is enough supply now for June, July prices are at a discount compared to June prices," another trader said.

The market is in inverse of Eur10/mt between June and July prices, as more supply is anticipated in July, he added.

With sufficient supply, prices are easing, but higher volumes are expected in the coming months, which could further weigh on prices in the Spanish market, a procurement manager said.

"Demand is weak now; also, there is a tight supply in June compared to July," a Dutch trader said.

Platts Ags EMEA Wheat Daily Rationale

Platts assessed the Milling Wheat Marker at $242.25/metric ton on June 4, unchanged from the previous assessment. Ukraine 11.5% Handysize wheat, assessed at $236/mt, was normalized to the nearest 25 cents of $242.25/mt when adding May's quality normalization of $6.15/mt, to account for its lower protein content, was the most competitive wheat out of the three components of the Milling Wheat Marker, which also includes CVB 12.5%, assessed at $244/mt, and Russian 12.5% wheat assessed at $244/mt on the day. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 2-16.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Russian deepsea, 12.5% protein) unchanged at $244/mt on June 4 amid low demand and a weaker ruble, below an offer at $245/mt. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 2-16.

Platts assessed Black Sea wheat (Ukraine deepsea, 11.5% protein) unchanged at $236/mt on June 4, below an offer for July at $237/mt. This reflects the Platts assessment window from July 2-16.

Exclusions: No market data was excluded from the June 4 Black Sea wheat assessments.
